probably wrecked the Democratic party in 1860 The story is worth telling. After the breaking up of the national Democratic convention at Charleston the party in Georgia held a state convention. Great excitement prevailed. The leaders of the party could not agree. It was a critical period.

The majority report indersed the se-ceders or bolters at Charleston, while the minority report opposed their action. The leading champion of the minority was Herschel V. Johnson, and his followers were confident that his eloquence and logic would carry the

It is quite likely that such would have been the case but for an unfortunate mishap. Ex-Governor Johnson began his speech before the noon adjourn. ment on the second day and concluded after dinner.

Old men who remember that speech say that it was a powerful argument, and the impression gained ground that after the noon recess the speaker would demolish his opponents with a few eledge hammer blows.

and when that time comes it is a woman's duty to think twice before she answers. She should think once for herself, and once for the man who has chosen her for his life companion.

If she is suffering from a torturing, dragging weakness or disease so prevalent with her sex, she has no right to answer "Yes" until her health is restored. If she does, she will be an unhappy one Dr. Pierce's Pavorite Prescription is a scientific remedy that cures all weakness, disease, disorder and derangement of the delicate and important feminine organs. It is not a "cureall," but a medicine devised to correct this one class of disorders and no other. It has accomplished its purpose in tens of thousands of cases, as is shown by tens of thousands of testimonials of the grateful patients themselves. It imparts vigor and virility to the entire womanly organism, and is the best of all nerve tonics and restoratives. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. It transforms weak, nervous, despondent invalids into healthy, happy women.

"I was so weak I could scarcely walk about But the overconfident friends of the minority report were doomed to disapwomen.

"I was so weak I could scarcely walk about the house," writes Mrs. Mattie Scruggs, of Allen's Creek, Amherst Co., va "Was reduced to a mere skeleton. I was never free from pain in the back and head and could not sleep at night. I bought three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two vials of 'Pleasant Pellets' After taking these six weeks I felt like a new person; alept well and gained in flesh. I am doing all my own housework and we have nine in the family."

A man or woman who neglects pointment. Johnson felt the strain of the morning session so much that he was unable to eat anything, and he took a glass of wine upon an empty stomach to strengthen himself. This was a fatal mistake. That one glass of wine perhaps changed the destiny of the nation!

The great orator resumed his speech, but the wine had nauscated him. He was bazy, verbose and unintelligible at times. His style and argument lacked vigor, consistency and positiveness. His friends looked at one another in despair. The men on the other side were exultant. It was evident that the speaker had damaged his own cause. Then Howell Cobb and Henry R. Jackson followed each other for the majority report. They spoke with an air of expectant triumph and captured the convention.

BEST MONEY FOR THE NATION.

The advocates of the gold standard harp indigently upon the wisdom of our abandoning a financial system which has been adopted by what they call the "advanced nations." We know of no more advanced nation than the United States. It is shildish to argue the monetary question from a sentimental stand point, for there is no sentiment about it. It is a cold blooded business proposition, and it is the some of absurdity for the United States to remain in accord with other nations to its own injury. There is no sentiment in the minds of the Rothchilds and men of that class, in dealing with this question. If they thought it would be to their advantage they would swing bodily over to a silver stantlard as they now hold out for a gold standard. Money, whether gold, silver or paper, is a medium of exchange, and a medium for the payment of debts. That money is the best for the United States which will do our business the best and bring the greatest amount of prosperity to the greatest number of our people.

There is just one remedy, and only one, that is broad and comprehensive enough to bring anything like a full measure of relief. That is the complate restoration of silver by the United States. In no possible way can It injure us in our relations with Europe, but it will deprive silver using nations of the advantage they now have from the difference in exchange. It will prevent England from buying our silver at half of its commodians value and then purchasing goods with it in silver countries, thus ultimately furnishing a market for nearly all of our products to the great benefit of the creditor classes.

NOT ALL.

The adjournment of the legislature will compel the newpapers to return to the discussion of prize-fights and church festivals .- Report.

Not all of them will confine their discussions exclusively to those matters. The JOURNAL, for instance, will probably have something to say favorable to the 16 to 1 silver proposition, a subject which some of the Silver party papers seldom allude to, except in connection with candidates and conventions. We will probably sometimes discuss the wisdom of continuing our common wealth as a dependency of a despotic railroad corporation. Suggestions as to the development of the resources of our county and State will perhaps occasionally find a place in the JOURNAL columns, and other old fogy subjects which the prize-fighting and church-featival press would not diately. Depend upon it mothers there is consider up to date or worthy of mention. The adjournment of the legisla. ture, which was a prolific source of comment, relieves us of an unpleasant the whole system, Mrs. Winslow's Southing duty, and we turn joyfully to other Syrup for children teething is pleasant to topics with the utmost confidence that the taste and is the prescription of one of the scatterment of the law-makers has the oldest and best female physicians and not destroyed all material for useful abottle. It is said that the alien land owners The Sophomores and Seniors crossed gave a prominent member of the lobby swords on the diamond yesterday after-$2,000 to put the bill through reducing noon. The result is that the Seniors the interest on State lands from 6 to 4 are to-day more dignified than jubiper cent .- News.

According to the JOURNAL'S informstion the "prominent member of the being in mourning, for the score was 8 lobby" didn't get a nickel. He took a contingent fee and failed to deliver the end. This game finished juter-class goods. Although in our opinion a baseball for the season at the Univermeritorious bili, it is not improbable sity, and gives the trophy to the Sophthat the land owners, knowing the omores. power of the said "prominent lobbyist," contracted for his services. By a seratch, however, he got left in the and liquors, Thyes is the place to go. jumble and confusion of the day before He will sell you better goods for less the final adjourment. Perhaps the mertis of the bill were largely instrumental in accomplishing its defeat.

Some strange bills are introduced into Legislatures. Senate Bill 27, which was killed by knocking out the enacting clause aimed to arbitrarily fix the assessments on railroads having no terminal in the State at not less than $16,000 per mile. Propositions of this nature are what bring some legislators into contempt.—Ex.

Yes, those legislators who vote against the property of a wealthy corporation being assessed at about onefourth instead of one-sixth of its actual valuation, while other property in the State is often assessed at more than it could be sold for at public sale, and while none is taxed at less than two-thirds of of its actual value in the currency of the republic.

"THANK the Lord, the legislature has adjourned!" This devout expression of thankfulness came yesterday from the lips of hundreds of Renoites. It is always right to praise the Lord, for He doeth all things well. Perhaps, however, it would be more timely at the present to pray for immunity from the evils of such legislation as was produced before the adjournment.

THE land bill reducing the rate of interest from six to four per cent was lost in the Assembly on Thursday by a vote of 17 to 10. Although it probably would not have passed upon a direct vote, the manner of its defeat doubtless lost it some strength. It was knocked out by a resolution that "all bills not on the file be indefinitely post-by the vote above named, and so the land bill, which had been temporarily Miss Dickinson's.

tabled, was killed by strangulation instead of a direct blow. There were other bills "on the table," in the hands of committees, etc., which probably influenced the votes of some of the members, so the vote on the resolution was hardly a fair test of the strength of the bill in the House.

Title, but No Fortune. The mother of the Duchess of Manchester is living very quietly in New York, where she arrived but recently from Europe. She is accompanied only by her maid and seems to be in very good health and spirits, although she is so lame that it is impossible for her to ascend even the most ordinary flight of steps without assistance. She displays no evidence of wealth whatever, and the very modest manner in which she lives is corroborative evidence of the generally well known fact that the Manchesters are as poor as church mice. If Kim, as the young duke is called at home, doesn't exchange his title for a fortune very soon, his American mother and grandmother will not enjoy many of the luxuries of life. His recent determination to adopt the stage as a profession may retrieve his fallen fortunes, and again may not.

But there is a large and delightful possibility that the American matinee girl of rich papa may become enamored with his Romeo or his "melancholy Dane' and induce papa to forget his ducal gayness' sad, sad past. We shall see.—St. Louis Republic.

Tactful Mrs. Cleveland.

Francis Wilson, the comedian, while playing in Washington, received a note from the White House, saying that Mrs. Cleveland would be very glad to have him lunch with her and Mr. Cleveland the following Wednesday. It so happened that Mr. Wilson had been invited as the guest of honor at a midday meal for the same date to meet the speaker of the house, John Hay, Joseph efferson and others equally agreeable. He hesitated to cause inconvenience to so many men, and yet he desired above all things to show his appreciation of the courtesy extended by the president's wife. In despair, he wrote to Mrs. Cleveland, explaining candidly the situation. Promptly came her response, so like an adaptable, graceful woman. It read as folows:

DEAR MR. WILSOY—Curiously enough, I find that I, too, have an engagement for Wednes-day. Wor't you come, therefore, the day fol-lowing and lunch with us?

Trades Unions For Women. The American Federation of Labor at labor saver its annual meeting in Kansas City passed the following resolution, prepared by

Delegate O'Sullivan:

"In view of the awful condition under which woman is compelled to toil, the eighteenth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor strongly arges the more general formation of trades unions of wageworking women to the end that they may scientifically and permanently abolish the terrible evils accompanying their weakened, because unorganized, state, and we emphatically reiterate the trade union demand that women receive equal compensation for labor performed."

She Loves Children.

The ex-queen of Hanover, who accompanied her husband, the blind king of Hanover, into exile after he lost his kingdom through the war with Prussia in 1866, now resides in the Villa Thun, at Gmunden, in upper Austria, within a few minutes' drive of Schloss Gmunden, the residence of her son, the Duke of Cumberland. Like Queen Victoria, she delights in the society of young people, which perhaps accounts for the small ravages time has made upon her health and vivacity until very recently. Not long ago she celebrated her eighpride. She gives it a great deal of care and attention, frequently anointing it with oil of the cocoanut, which probably gives it the peculiar gloss. The young girl usually wears her hair hanging loosely down her back, but the older women build it up in a fanciful kint, often adorned with flowers.

Next to her hair the Philippine girl prides herself on her feet. She is not, like the poor Chinese women, forced to have them of diminutive proportions, but she is just as careful of them. She wears no stockings, but incases the feet

Very few of the women in these islands are well educated. Some, however, have been taught in the convents. but their number is very small. The Philippine girl is very fond of music and is generally able to play both on the harp and the guitar. The guitar is very popular and might be called the national instrument. For the purpose of assisting them in playing the girls allow the thumb nail of the right hand to grow very long.

These girls are athletically inclined. They ride and swim with great dexterity. They are also very fond of daucing.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A Glant Fan.

Garswood, England, has a ventilating, engine that can dispose of 500,000 cubic feet of air a minute by means of a monster fan. The fan is 80 feet in diameter and 9 feet wide across the vanes, or paddles. It is driven by ropes from a 24 foot flywheel and roars like a locomotive whirling through a tunnel. The fan is used for ventilating a colliery, or coal mine, and it is said to be the largest appliance of its kind in the world.—Chicago Record.

A Surprise Party.

At the residence of H. J. Thres Miss Edna Thyes was given a surprise party by her classmates last Friday evening. An incident occurred which marred the pleasure of the gathering. A number of hoodlums endeavored to enter the pantry and steal the refreshments which had been prepared for the young folks. Being frustrated in this attempt by the dog, they scattered for a time over the back fence, returning shortly afterward and thro ving stones upon the porch. Then, coming around to the front of the house, they committed all sorts of mischief, finally breaking two paues of glass with stones. Mr. Thyes being absent from home, an officer was sent for, but by the time be arrived the boys had departed.
